How it works

Blue Jean Weddings uses a combination of traditional matchmaking techniques and modern technology to connect brides with cowboys. The company's matchmakers work with each client to identify their ideal partner. They then search their database of eligible cowboys to find a match. Once a match is made, the matchmakers arrange a meeting between the two parties.

Blue Jean Weddings also offers a variety of online tools to help brides and cowboys connect. The company's website includes a searchable database of eligible cowboys. Brides can also create a profile and receive matches from the matchmakers.
