If you're looking to improve your credit score, you don't need to hire a credit repair company. You can do it yourself in less than 30 days, and you don't need to spend a lot of money. Here are some tips:

1. Get a copy of your credit report

The first step to improving your credit score is to understand what it's based on. You can get a free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit bureaus: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. You can request your reports online, by phone, or by mail.

2. Review your credit report for errors

Once you have your credit reports, review them carefully for any errors. If you find any mistakes, dispute them with the credit bureau. You can do this online, by phone, or by mail.

3. Pay your bills on time

One of the most important factors in your credit score is your payment history. Make sure to pay all of your bills on time, every time. If you have any past due bills, pay them off as soon as possible.

4. Keep your credit utilization low

Your credit utilization ratio is the amount of credit you're using compared to the amount of credit you have available. A high credit utilization ratio can hurt your credit score. Try to keep your credit utilization ratio below 30%.

5. Don't open too many new credit accounts

When you open a new credit account, it can temporarily lower your credit score. Try to avoid opening too many new credit accounts in a short period of time.

6. Monitor your credit score

It's important to monitor your credit score regularly so that you can track your progress and make sure that there are no errors on your credit report. You can get a free copy of your credit score from many different websites, including CreditKarma.com and NerdWallet.com.

By following these tips, you can boost your FICO score by 200 points in less than 30 days without hiring a credit repair company.
